

Cloud Gazing

On a day where there are clouds in the sky, have children sit outside and look at them. (Remember NOT to look at the sun!) Have the children see what object each cloud most looks like and start a list of all the different things they find. (For example: one cloud may look like a bird or maybe even a dinosaur!) When they are through looking at clouds, have them return inside where they can draw and color their favorite cloud objects they saw that day!

www.skytalking.org